FROM THE PRESIDENT
Helen Lee

Autumn seems to have arrived at last. The signs of fall are all around us. The school bells are ringing, the leaves are turning, and the night time air is crisp. As you can see I am writing this early in the fall season and by the time you receive it there may be snow on the ground. Whichever kind of weather you are having, we hope you are enjoying it.

Our Midwest members have been doing a lot of interesting things this fall. We had 3 classes in October ranging from beginning to advanced genealogy. Our speakers were Frank Bergquist and Rex Finley from our society and the librarians from the three Universities in Wichita. The classes were well attended and much information was learned from them. Then on October 6, we had our annual seminar with Mary K. Meyer of the Maryland Historical Society as our guest speaker for 2 sessions. A total of 91 persons attended this meeting. It was most informative and enjoyed by all.

This is the time of the year for the nominating committee to be appointed to select officers for the coming year. My office as president has been rewarding for me and I have had a super board of officers with which to work. When we all work together for a common cause it is much more pleasant for all. I would like for each of you to thoughtfully consider a job on the Board when you are called. I would like to especially address my remarks to the younger members who can give of their time. Those of us who have worked in the library and held office feel that we need some younger blood to carry on the work that we have been doing for 15 years. We will still be around, but our legs and bodies are giving out, and younger ones are needed. This society has much to be proud of, the membership has grown to 615 as of this writing, our fund drive is under way, and it looks like we will be moving to another home soon. As I have said many times, you will be the one to profit from your help in our Society. I recently read in a publication that one of the ways to "kill a society" is to "never accept an office, do nothing more than necessary but when others roll up their sleeves and do it all, howl about how the society is run by a clique". Remember the society is YOU and I feel confident that you will respond favorably. Our offices are varied---and there is one especially for you. Your ideas and/or service will be appreciated by all.

By the time you have received this, the decision will have been made as to the status of our rental quarters. As we go to press we are considering a move to Old Historic Cowtown. The Executive Board recommended that we agree to lease 2 buildings in Cowtown to house our library and offices temporarily. A vote by the general membership could not be made in time to make this printing. If a favorable vote is given to this proposal then we shall probably be in our new quarters by Thanksgiving or the first of December. Watch your Alert and the next Register for complete details.

We are sorry to report that because of health restrictions, Mildred Blubaugh, our 1st Vice-President has found it necessary to resign. We are sorry to lose Mildred as she has worked hard at getting some excellent programs and has planned many interesting meetings. Good Luck, Mildred, and we will be seeing you around. One of our members has agreed to accept the position of Vice-President and Program Chairperson, but the Executive Board has not had an opportunity to approve her appointment at this time. We will have this for you in the next Alert.

I have run across some amusing reading that I would like to share with you for the laughs contained within. The following sentences were taken from authentic letters written to a welfare department. Hopefully, they are not what you would find in a genealogical letter written by our members..."I am forwarding my marriage certificate and three children, one of which is a mistake as you can see." Or "In accordance with your instructions I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope." !!!!! MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A VERY, VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR.- H.L.

Hatfield is the name of the new town laid out up in Union Township, Sedgwick County, Ks. on the proposed line of the Wichita & McPherson Railroad. We believe the town is named for Mr. Rudolph Hatfield, of Wichita. The site comprises over eighty acres of land, and when the road is built Hatfield will boom, for it is located in a wonderful rich section of the Valley. May 20, 1884 The Daily Eagle.

The three Bibles that have been in our Library for many years and which we told you about in last issue of the Register have found a new home. A member of the families concerned has claimed them. EDWARDS HISTORICAL ATLAS OF SEDGWICK COUNTY, KANSAS - 1882

The Midwest Historical & Genealogical Society is very proud to announce the reprint of "Edwards Historical Atlas of Sedgwick County, 1882"

This book contains a history of the city of Wichita and the townships. It shows the churches, school houses, farm houses, post offices, cemeteries, towns, brick kilns, stone quarries, public roads, private roads, completed railroads, proposed railroads, springs and rivers. The individual township maps and also the larger foldout map of the city of Wichita, gives the names of landowners and the number of acres owned. A story of the newspapers and the churches of that time is very interesting. A brief history of all the towns in existence with a list of the businesses in Wichita and other Sedgwick County towns are named and their location given. A list of City Officers for Wichita, 1873 to 1881 is included. A complete name index has been added by MHGS. Historians and Genealogists will find this is an invaluable book for inclusion in County, State and personal libraries.

It will be printed in its original size $11\frac{1}{4} \times 17\frac{1}{4}$ ", 61 pages plus 18 pages of an all name index.

MILDRED BLUBAUGH, PROGRAM CHAIRMAN REPORTS:

To borrow an appropriate slogan of International Harvester Company, "Once over it is all over".

SEMINAR . . Our one day Seminar on 6th of October with Mary K. Meyer, Baltimore, Maryland, well known Speaker, Author and Genealogist, proved worthy of the time expended in presenting this event.

Mrs. Meyer donated her book Directory of Genealogical Societies in U.S.A. and Canada as a door prize, won by Beverly Arbuckle #64. The door prize Ancestral Record Book donated by Goodspeed Book Shop, Boston, Mass. was won by Eva Mae Hughes #72. Both winners are members of Midwest HGS.

"I was unaware when arranging for the luncheon at Wichita Art Museum, Oct. 7'th that Curator Harold Wooden was a native of Baltimore, Md. which proved a 'grand finale' for Mrs. Meyer's first visit to Kansas and Wichita.

Speakers for Midwest Historical & Genealogical classes are to be complimented on a job well done. We, also, appreciated the use of the Wichita Public Library Auditorium for the classes.

Midwest Historical & Genealogical Library has received a Complimentary copy of "Once Upon a Family Tree" by Olive White Garvey, an Autobiography of her life: and the story of her Ancestors. "I am personally grateful for this Autobiography, having been her chosen "Hairdresser" for 20 years."

Mildred Blubaugh Program Chair.

Note: We regret that due to health reasons, Mildred Blubaugh is resigning as Vice President of MHGS. She has given much time and energy in 'putting together' excellent programs for our monthly meetings as well as all the preparation for the Seminar and classes at the Library. We say, Thank You, Mildred for a job well done and a wish for improvement in your health day by day until you are well again. Editors.

OBITUARY - James Harrison GILLISPIE

The Savannah Reporter, July 19, 1895

On Sunday evening, July 14, James H. Gillispie arose from the table after partaking of a hearty supper, and in the good humored pleasant tone which was so characteristic of the man, said to his wife, "well, let us go milk". Picking up the pail, he proceeded to the barnyard, accompanied by his wife, she driving the cows into the lot, while he held the gate open. Hearing him speak in an unusual tone, she turned to look and beheld him falling. She ran to him, but alas! He had spoken to her for the last time. He breathed but twice after she reached him, the spirit had taken its flight to God who gave it.

Brother Gillispie was born in Madison County, Ky., March 13, 1826. In 1847 he came to Andrew County where he has continued to reside and where by his true manhood he made perhaps as many friends and as few enemies as any man in the county.

In 1866 he became a Christian and united with the Christian Church of which he lived a devoted member until death. He was the father of 12 children, 8 of whom are living, and with a vast concourse of sympathizing friends and relatives attended the last sad rites. The funeral sermon was preached by Elder Chapman from I Samuel 20:3. "There is but a step between me and death."

The burial service rendered by Savannah Lodge A.F. and A. M. of which he had long been a member, was beautifully solemn and impressive. The body was laid to rest in the family cemetery. "Be ye also ready."

AN EARLY WICHITA CHRISTMAS

by William Clark Ellington, Jr.

Unfortunately no record exists to date concerning a description of the first Christmas observance in the village of Wichita. There would have been a sufficient influx of settlers by December of 1868 to have some type of community celebration. Perhaps the holiday was observed at Durfee's, a trading post and stockade, located about 400 feet n.w. from Ninth and Waco, managed by Milo Kellogg. Camp Beecher, an adjacent military outpost to protect the new immigrants to the area from Indians, was in existence here from October 19, 1868 to October 23, 1869, so, it would be logical that the troopers stationed at the camp did indeed celebrate Christmas with the few settlers at that time. A diary kept by Lt. Thrasher, quartermaster of the Nineteenth Kansas, had an insertion for November 13, 1868, "Go to Kellogg's to dance." However, the use of Durfee's for a Christmas celebration is strictly speculation on my part and by no means fact. To insist otherwise would cast an ill wind to my historical credibility.

The Christmas of 1869 was recorded by William Finn, our first surveyor of Wichita. From an old diary he recorded this very brief description, "Then, on December 23, the first Sunday school teacher's meeting was held in Milo Kellogg's house." (Durfee's) (The Sunday school was organized in the latter part of November, 1869. Most of the meetings were held in a dugout school room.) The insert in his diary for December 25th disclosed, "Christmas in a new country. No fun at all. Killed one prairie chicken and hunted me a new claim." Unfortunately, Mr. Finn didn't jot down the weather for that long ago holiday.

For a pleasant review of an early Christmas in Wichita, one that was recorded and observed the following year of 1870, let us focus on a small community of frame dwellings, several log cabins and a few store fronts sprouting up here and there.....Christmas of 1870 was indeed a white Christmas. A cold wave had hit on the 22nd of December that froze the ice on the Little Arkansas river to a depth of six inches. The settlers didn't appreciate the frigid temperatures. It was the coldest weather that some of the earliest citizens could recall, even those who had resided in Kansas a decade earlier. A six inch snow had fallen on the 16th of December that still graced the rooftops and ground for that special day. The weather had turned mild which contributed to the holiday spirit.

It was suggested the settlers take advantage of the thick crystal clear ice on the Little river and start cutting to store for the summer months. At that time the waters of the Little Arkansas were fed by various springs along the river's winding path to Wichita and consequently, was of good quality.

Perhaps the most unusual sport for the holiday and during the cold snap was ice fishing on the river. This consisted of cutting a hole in the ice and waiting for a school of fish to surface for air and then, with a quick flick of a hoop or snare, which usually consisted of a heavy brass wire loop inserted in and attached to a stick, the fish were caught by looping them out onto the ice.

The merchants in the new town, who had been wise for laying in ample provisions for the holiday trade, were quite pleased over the healthy Christmas business.

J. H. Dagner, proprietor of a liquor and tobacco shop, offered a Christmas glow with pure Kentucky Bourbon whiskeys. Brandy, gin, Port and Sherry wines were also on display for sale.

Sol Kohn, in partnership with his brother, Morris, operated a prominent dry goods and clothing house that also sold groceries. Boots, shoes, hats and caps were also featured at their New York store. Sol Kohn later established a bank at Wichita and served as Mayor in 1879 but resigned five months later.

George Smith, who was an exclusive dealer in groceries, offered fancy food items for the holidays.

Emile Werner's Oyster Depot boasted a fine cellar and ice house. This establishment offered a large supply of fresh oysters for sale.

Oysters must have been in abundance locally for Charlie Corderio's Arbor Restaurant and lodging house featured oysters on the menu. The cooked variety were listed at 75¢ and the raw, 50¢.

William Bloomfield Hutchison, co-founder of the first newspaper in Wichita, Wichita Vidette, complained that the only greeting he received for Christmas was a notice of an unpaid bill. The notice demanded payment before January 1st or the matter will be forwarded to the squire for collection.

Doc Lewellan, a pioneer trader and merchant in the area, boasted the largest stock of dry goods in the valley.

Typical examples of food prices in Wichita during that December had potatoes selling for $1.50 a bushel; 100 lbs. of flour at $6.00; a pound of butter and a dozen eggs selling at 40¢ respectively.

Perhaps the first holiday activity for that 1870 Christmas was a festival, held on the evening of the 23rd of December, at the new Presbyterian church, located then at Second and Wichita. It was a duo-purpose occasion, to celebrate the holiday and to raise additional funds to complete the church. The Society of Church Ladies officiated and sponsored the festival. (This church stands today at Wichita's COWTOWN.)

A concluding celebration for the pioneer holiday of 1870 was a grand masquerade ball held on December 29th. The occasion was the wind-up of the Christmas holiday and the opportunity to "hoof" out the old year. This ball, held at Wichita Hall, was labeled "the affair of the season." The admittance charge was $3.00. The executive committee consisted of Ed Smith, George Clark, John E. (Jack) Ledford, James (Big Jim) Steele, M. R. Hall, C. H. Stone, Charles Case and R. B. (Bone) Waterman. (Waterman was the son of the first land owner in the village, Eli P. Waterman.) These men were responsible for assisting in securing costumes and making arrangements.

Many Christmas seasons have been celebrated in Wichita since that 1870 date. One hundred ten to be exact.

"Colonel M," Mr. Wm. Griefenstein's noted trotting horse, for which he had refused three thousand dollars, died last Tuesday night, suddenly. Mr. G. has not returned from Washington. (1884, Wichita, Ks.)

GENEALOGY SEARCH PAYS OFF

Jennie Karaffa is not your typical great-great grandmother. At 81 years young, her life is an active mix of auxiliary meetings, working with the senior citizens, and handwork, such as, crocheting, making silk flowers, and playing piano for various lodge functions. These activities help to keep Jennie's mind off of the fact that within the past few years, she has buried her second husband and all of her three children. But in November 1979 something happened to rekindle the flame in her beautiful, snappy eyes.

This particular day, like most of her days, had been filled with crocheting and a visit to some of her senior citizen friends until the telephone rang. On the other end was the voice of a man she had never heard before, never knew existed!

Jennie's youngest sister, Ella, had died 41 years ago, shortly after Ella had given birth to her son, Robert Ronningen. But Jennie had lost touch with her family due to moving around and traveling in Europe and somehow, when news of her sister's death reached her, the birth of Ella's son was not make known to her.

But things have a way of working out. When Robert Ronningen joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormans) in 1962, he began to collect data for his family genealogy. In reading through his mother's old school records, there were the names of all her brothers and sisters of the Berends family. He was familiar with all of these names but one: Jennie Berends. After a few inquiries, he traced Jennie's family to Dodge City, Kansas. He was told by her relatives there that Jennie, the only surviving sibling of the nine Berends children, was living in Oakley, California.

It was over a year ago when Robert placed the call to his Aunt Jennie. Since then, a steady exchange of correspondence and telephone calls have taken place arranging for a meeting between two newly-found friends. Three days ago the meeting finally took place when Jennie, driven by friends, arrived for a visit from California.

"I've really enjoyed these three days. It's been some of the greatest days of my life to be greeted by someone who really cares about me. The meeting was a turning point for me at this time in my life. I hated to hear about the family deaths because I had lost contact with the family, but I can't express the feeling I have inside. It's beautiful!" says Jennie.

It's been a wonderful experience for Robert, too. "We've spent these few days going over family history and catching up on 41 years of genealogy in three days.

"But that's what genealogy is all about. Not only do you record data on family that you are familiar with, but sometimes family histories are full of surprises, too!" said Robert.

Jennie will go from Wichita to Dodge City today to visit other relatives, which include two great-great grandchildren that she hasn't seen in two years.

HUGUENOTS

BETTY McGEHEE, President of Kansas Huguenot Society presented an informative History of the Huguenots at the August meeting of our Society and has generously given us permission to publish a resume of her Talk which should be a great deal of help to those who are researching the Huguenots.

Huguenot is the name generally given to the French Protestants of the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries. The word Huguenot means French descent.

The National Huguenot Society by-laws for membership eligibility require proof that: (1) a person who without regard to ethnic origin or particular sect of the Protestant faith, who subsequent to Dec. 10, 1520 and who prior to the promulgation of the Edict of Toleration, Nov. 28, 1787, emigrated to America from France (or from another country). (2) a Huguenot who, in spite of religious persecution, remained in France (within the kingdom of France on the date of promulgation).

The word Huguenot comes from an alteration. It may have been influenced by the gate Roi-Hugon where the Protestants of Tours assembled at night; of earlier French eyguenot, referring to those who opposed annexation by the Duke of Savoy; may have come from several German words.

Promulgation is to make known (a decree, law or doctrine) by public declaration. Edict is a decree or proclamation issued by an authority.

The Edict of Nantes signed by Henry IV of France, was one of the most Famous royal decrees in history. It was the first official recognition of religious toleration by a great European country. Signed on April 13, 1598, at the ducal castle in Nantes, it allowed the French protestants complete freedom of worship in about 75 towns. They were given equal rights with the Catholics as citizens. The intolerant King Louis XIV abolished the edict in 1685. Thousands of the Huguenots fled France. Nantes is a port city 215 miles southwest of Paris, a trading center with ship building as it's major industry.

The National Huguenot Society recognizes among their membership descendants of Mennonites, Jansenists, Hussites, followers of ZWINGLI (Tsving-Lee) and the Walloons.

Mennonites are a protestant group known for its emphasis on plain ways of dressing, living and worshipping. There are many branches. Their beliefs are based largely on the New Testament. Their creed is the Sermon on the Mount. It forbids going to war, swearing oaths, or holding offices that require force. The first church originated in Zurich in 1525 and was the Swiss Brethern. They believed the Church and State should be seperated. They baptised only those persons who proved their goodness in their daily lives. The name came from Menno Simons, a Roman Catholic priest who led the Anabaptist movement in the Netherlands and northern Germany in the 1530's. Later it split into various groups, including the Amish.

Dutch Mennonites moved to northern Germany and Prussia in the 1600's and the Russian Ukraine in the 1700's. In 1874 many moved from Russia to Canada and to Kansas, Nebraska and nearby states. Swiss Mennonites moved to southern Germany and France and to Pennsylvania in 1683 after William Penn offered religious liberty. These were the Pennsylvania Dutch.

Jansenism was started by a Roman Catholic bishop of Ypres(Y-pris) Belgium. He wrote a book "Augustinus" in 1640 which was the source of the heresy called Jansenism. The idea was a rigorous Calvinistic piety into the Roman Catholic life by discouraging frequent communion. The book was of course condemned.

Hussites, organized by about 450 Bohemian nobles to avenge the killing of John Huss. He was a religious reformer and martyr, influenced by the English reformer John Wycliffe. His death set off the civil wars in Bohemia and inspired Martin Luther in his revolt. Huss was rector of the Unity of Prague and a priest. He attacked the worldliness of the clergy and the church interference in political matters. Put on trial and not allowed to defend himself, he was burned at the stake in 1415. The Hussites were divided into 2 groups; the conservatives reached an agreement with the Church in 1433; the radicals were defeated in 1434. This group became the Moravian Church that we know today. It was organized in 1457 and has 160 congregations in North America. First called the Unity of Brethren, it experienced a rebirth in Germany in the early 1700's. They came to America in 1735, settled in Savannah, Georgia and later moved to Pennsylvania where they founded the city of Bethlehem in 1741. They have a strong missionary policy.

Zwingli (TSVING,lee) was a Swiss clergyman who led the protestant reformation in his country. He preached against fasting, veneration of the saints, and insisted that priest should marry. The political powers of the Pope was his strongest issue. He went to the support of Martin Luther in 1520, and in 1523, Zurich broke with the Roman Catholic Church. He disagreed with Luther on the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The Zwingli group broke away and in 1531 in a war against the 5 Catholic cantons of Switzerland, he was killed in battle.

The word Walloon means foreigner, and the French used it to refer to the French people in southern Netherlands. Walloon derives from the Teutonic word "Wahl" meaning foreigner. Germans use the word as an adjective "Walsch" meaning foreign and specifically French or Italian. Walsch Flanders is French Flanders as is Walslant. London records use it to identify a person as a Walsch-Swiss

In the 15th century the Dukes of Burgundy owned parts of the old Gaul not under Roman rule. Gaul had been divided into 3 parts - Belgica, Aquitania, Gallia, all formerly occupied by Celtic tribes. This property made the Dukes of Burgundy as powerful as the Kings of France.

The marriage of Mary of Burgundy to Maximilian of Hapsburg, the Holy Roman Emperor, gave these dominions to the House of Hapsburg. Their son Philip the Handsome, married Joanna of Castile, daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella, which gave their eldest son, the Spanish Empire. The northern Netherlands were able to free themselves after terrible fighting, but the southern Netherlands remained under Spain until 1714, when the Treaty of Utrecht reverted control to the Austrians, passing to France in 1797. The kingdom of Belgium was proclaimed in 1830, but nearly half of the French part of the southern Netherlands remained with France and today is known as the Dept. du Nord, (French Flanders) and Pas de Calais (once Artois).

Political rivalry for the throne of France, between the Bourbon family which for a time headed the Huguenot party and the Guises, leaders of the Catholic party, was involved in the religious struggle.

The massacre of Protestants by Catherine de Medici and the Guises on Saint Bartholomews Day (Aug. 24, 1572) and the rise of the Guises led Henry III of Navarre (Huguenot leader) to renounce protestantism in order to win the throne (1593).

The French protestants had grown in number and wealth and were no longer a political party, but devoted to commerce and manufacture. (They numbered at least 1/3 of the country's tradesmen). The Huguenots in southern and western France surpassed all in the cultivation of soil. They applied themselves with great success to the mechanical arts. Woolen cloth, linen, goods of serge and silk, iron works, paper mills, tanneries; all things that enriched France during this period and founded chiefly by Protestants.

In labor they were fitted to excel by their morality, intelligence and thrift. They were prudent in dealing with others, and ready to cooperate in business procedures. They were even loyal to their government. To be Continued in Next Issue

WILLFORD-HARDMAN FAMILY STORIES

Elinor Womer has provided us with an interesting story written by her mother Leslye Hardman Womer. This story is a history and compilation of anecdotes about the Willford-Hartman family giving us a glimpse into days gone by. We are going to try to choose the most interesting stories from the book, concentrating on the Willford family, who descended from one, Samuel Willford of England.

Joseph, the third son of Samuel emigrated to America and settled in the Tuscarora Valley in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania in 1766. Mary Ann Eniex, wife of Joseph III, was grandmother of the author and contributed much of the story to her.

Mary Campbell born in Cumberland Co., Pennsylvania, 1750, married Joseph Wilford. She lived a very exciting life, starting at the age of seven, when she and her brother William were captured by Indians while pursuing their cows in the summer of 1757. Seven years later, she was discovered by a brother, named Dougel, who was with Colonel Bouquet as he was making a peace treaty with the Delaware and Shawnee Indians at the fork of the Muskingum River. Dougel stepping upon a log, enabled him to see out over the crowd. As he called Mary Campbell, he saw a squaw clamp her hand over a girl's mouth. Thus, Mary was found and returned to her parents by the Indians.

Hoeing corn with a hoe, made by fastening the shoulder blade of a deer to a stick using tendons from the deer legs to tie it together, Mary earned her 'keep'. It seems the Willfords lived rough lives. Joseph Willford (4) was frozen to death when caught in a blizzard while trapping fur bearing animals in Nobles County, Minnesota. He is buried at Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Joseph Willford (5), a machinist, invented the Willford and Northway Roller used in Milling and had a factory in Minneapolis where all the Mill machinery was made. Pillsbury Mills in Minneapolis, the largest flour mills in the world, contained this machinery put in by the Willfords.

Leslye Hardman Womer was the granddaughter of William Willford and Nancy Casebeer, who were married in Wayne County, Ohio, July 5, 1838. Her mother, Ellen, was born near Beloit, Wisconsin in Green County, December 26, 1851. one of the younger children.

While the Willford boys helped outdoors, Martha the oldest daughter, was the seamstress, having only one needle, guarded diligently, to do all the sewing. She bought the first sewing machine in the County paying $100.00 for a Wheeler and Wilson machine, earning the money by sewing for neighbors for one cent a yard. She carded, spun and wove cloth from the sheep shearing, raised flax for linen and thus provided the material for their clothing. She made dyes from butternut and walnut shells; so most of the clothing was brown. A dress for Sunday and one for every day wear was the extent of their dresses in the winter. She also, made the men and boys clothing.

Shoes were worn in cold weather, only, with orders to "stay out of the mud". Children of that day were no different than children today. Into the nearest mud hole they went ! When the father came home and found out about it, all were lined up and given sound spankings until Ellen's turn. She was so small that she was scolded severely and let off the hook.

The children attended Sharon school in Iowa, taught by numerous teachers. Some of the teachers were Mary McClain, Jonathon Dudley, Sue Dudley, two sisters, Sybil and Nan and Mary Jane Horn. Affa Dubois McCrory related the following story to Leslye Hardman whose grandfather had a rick of sugar cane stacked between their house and the sorghum mill which stood between the house and the school. In spite of having kindling and matches in the school house to start a fire, the teacher sent two boys with a shovel to get some live coals to restart the fire which had gone out. The boys on returning climbed over the rick of sugar cane with the live coals, setting the cane on fire. The teacher, pupils nor near neighbors could not save the cane or mill.

Amanda Casebeer baked and brought the first iced cake ever seen by the younger school children to a picnic on Sugar Creek. Amanda was Ellen Willford's cousin. The adventures of the Hardman family will be related in the next issue of the Register. Series to be continued. Compiled by Claudine Doyle

Charles Baldwin:

I notice in the American Friend of 11th month 2nd, a little account of William Baldwin and E. B. (Elizabeth).

I have been trying to get all the Baldwin history I can and on seeing this notice I hope to get more.

My great, great, great grandfather's name was John. He died January 19, 1757. His wife Ann died November 19, 1741. This couple had a son named William who died August 19, 1805. Elizabeth, his wife, died September 19, 1773.

This couple were the parents of twelve children who were as follows:

John married Jemima Sanders, born July 9, 1746.
William died an infant.
Ann married Sam Millikin, born May 18, 1750.

Joseph born July 28, 1754.
Daniel born September 23, 1756.
Jessee born January 26, 1759.
Enos born March 9, 1761.
Sarah married Richard Williams, born May 3, 1762.
Uriah married Hannah Hunt, born March 19, 1764.
(Hannah was the daughter of William Hunt)
Elizabeth born December 24, 1766.

My grandfather and family moved from North Carolina to Indiana and settled in Wayne County in 1825.

My great grandparents were in hearing of the Battle of Guilford Court House. I think the Baldwins came to North Carolina from the East but I have no date. I can't tell what time they crossed the ocean.

If thee can give me any information concerning the Baldwin family I will be very glad.

I find in all my efforts that the Baldwins are all of the same stock, and are of Quaker origin. The men are big rough fellows, always have a pocket knife great for whittling, and generally have big fat cats.

My age is 67, I have a family of four daughters, all married.

I am a Minister and belong to the Friends Church. I live 10 miles N. E. of Richmond, Indiana.

Please let me hear from thee at an early date.

Thy cousin,

Cyrus A. Baldwin

"CENSUS DAY"

Census Day is that day set by law for each census enumeration to begin (i.e. who lived in this household on the said date.) Although the assistant census Marshal may have quizzed the head of the family in September on the make-up of his family, the return was to show "all persons in the family on June 1st." No baby born between June 1st and the enumerator's visit was to be included. But anyone who had died between June 1st and the time of the enumerator's visit was to be included as well as anyone who was a member of the family in June but was absent from the home when the enumerator came by. At forts, Navy yards, prisons, asylums, colleges, schools, etc., the commanding officer, superintendent, keeper, or headmaster was regarded as "Head of the Household" and was instructed to furnish information on the number of people in his charge.

Census were enumerated on following days and years:

First Monday in August	1790, 1800, 1810, 1820
June 1st.	1830, 1840, 1850, 1860
	1870, 1880, 1890, 1900
April 15th.	1910
January 20.	1920
April 1st	1930, 1940, 1950, 1960,

The temperance meetings which have been in progress at the skating rink the past week closed Sunday evening, Rev. W.W. Woodford, having engagements elsewhere that demand his attention. About a thousand people signed the pledge, thus public acknowledging their intention to abstain from the use of intoxicants. We trust they will remain firm in this determination. ARE GENEALOGISTS SANE?

Genealogy seems to be a congenital condition, but is indefinable.

That part of the population who never had it is usually intolerant of those who are afflicted with it. They seem to think there should be an institution behind iron bars for those afflicted.

Most people could not tell you the family name of their grandmother. "What does it matter?" they ask. "They died before I came along." It seems not to occur to th these but for those now gone "I" would never have come along, and but for the genealogists would sink into oblivion ere one century passed.

Little can be done for those endowed with the "bug". They see the symptoms -- the absent-mindedness - the pursuit of a supposed 'will of the wisp' - then continued labor without hope of material award. Their only comment is "Bugs."

Well ther are bugs---and Bugs! Not all are harmless, but no genealogist has ever been known to do anything worse than breaking into and entering a cemetery. Those who belong ther don't mind, and those outside are not anxious to enter. The genealogist is happy just doing the job his critics have neither the inclination or talent for, and all he asks is to be let alone.

Over the Gutter

A reporter called upon Cash Henderson this morning and soon ascertained that Mr. Henderson was mad at some of the City Council who sat up nearly all night trying to figure out how to stop an enterprising merchant from conducting his own business by placing hundreds of dollars worth of presents over the gutter in front of his store--and receiving permission from the Mayor to do so. He thought some of the 'City Dads' had better give a little more of their attention to the Douglas Avenue pavement and not try to interfere with his business unless they wished to see him move the New York store from Wichita. He, also thought Mr. Carson would be able to protect the city's interests in better ways than to interfere with merchants who were enterprising enough to spend good hard dollars for presents to give his customers.

While the reporter was there a well known gentleman purchased a $24 carpet and knew nothing of the giving of presents and was surprised when the salesman gave him two fine steel engravings, one China cup and saucer, a writing desk, a doll, a hobby horse and a bicycle. All of which were given free after the man had bought the carpet for less than any other store could sell it.

It will pay one and all of you to go and see the presents at the New York Store. The Wichita Daily Beacon, Tuesday, December 9, 1890

SOMETHING MORE

TIME does fly ! Here we are going to press with the Third Issue of the Register. You have been very helpful in many ways and without the stories, family histories, charts, lists, etc. we could not have published the magazine. Thank you. There are some of you I would like to give a special thanks, Dorothy Bethel, our Librarian, for the articles and stories to print, the helpful suggestions and many questions answered; Mr. Robert Blackburn for the Washington County, Kansas information, always typewritten and alphabetized (a time saver); Joanne James in passing on the Ancestor Charts you have given permission to publish and the cemetery lists to publish; Ella Jane Ledermann , who types the Ancestor Charts and family histories, correcting them, arranging properly and proof reads all; Corrine Afton another typist, always willing and cheerful; Claudine Doyle for rewriting; Frank and Betty Bergquist for doing the Queries; Mae Chaney for always having the Marriage Licenses, Sedg. Co. 1880's ready to type. There are several more I will try to recognize later.

Correction..in the July Issue of the Register in the Coal Oil Johnny story we misspelled the family name Barger, we had Borger. Sorry!

Do you remember the "Satisfied Customer" story in the January-March Register from Mrs. Elizabeth Fischgrabe who found her husbands family whom he did not know through a Querie she had published in our magazine? We received a nice letter from them telling of the Family Reunion they enjoyed at Lyon County Lake near Emporia this summer. This is first time her husband had seen some of his sisters as he was adopted at an early age. They live in Lynwood, California.

We were saddened by the death of Pauline Massey and will miss the Beginning Genealogist column she wrote for the Register. She was such a Courageous and determined person, in spite of ill health, she gave unstintingly of her time and knowledge in helping at the Library and assisting members of the Society in their research.

In less than two months our Kansas Legislature will convene, have you written your representative and senator about making our public records accessible and open to researchers?

Our Membership Chairman, Jehanne Thomas reports 612 members, November 1, 1981.

We are in need of more articles for our next issue of the Register, won't you please send your stories or interesting experiences in researching and share with members of MHGS. ?

We welcome George Gird's Column "Sunflower Seeds" to the Register. I know you will find much information to help you in your research in this. Thank You, George. It is good to know what other Societies are doing.

Remember the Library has Pedigree Charts, Family group forms, Soundex Charts and more. Save time and postage and buy from the MHGS Library.

Best Wishes for a
Happy Holiday Season
